BUSINESS INTELLIGENCE PROGRAM

"Education gives you the ability to know it. Intelligence gives you the capacity to fix it. Wisdom lets you know when to do it."

— Bobby F. Kimbrough Jr.

All businesses use information technology and many employ graduates in IT and technology-related roles. IT includes all forms of technology that are used to create, store, communicate, exchange and use information and hence, powering businesses and society. Thus business sector is highly innovative and constantly changing to suit new demands and produce new tools. In just five years' time, it is highly likely that the IT industry and the information technology, we use, will look quite different from how it looks today and hence IT skills should be looked from different perspective for academics, keeping in view of various domain knowledge skills required by PGDM student for current industry requirement.

Over half of IT professionals find jobs outside the IT industry. Other large recruiters of IT and technology graduates include financial services, manufacturing and public sector employers. However, almost every organization uses IT and therefore needs support staff, where a candidate can find an appropriate job. Utilizing of desirable skills in IT area and being able to demonstrate them appropriately can increase chances of success for employability.

Keeping the above in mind, a comprehensive "Business Intelligence Program", worth Rs. 90,000 is provided free of cost, to all students.

OUR STRENGTH

"Amazon, an organization aspired by many. From the day I cracked it, I was so much thankful to my institute, i. e. Institute of Technology & Science, for providing me a platform where I can explore the best opportunities. They groomed me in every possible aspect, be it personality development, corporate knowledge or academics. Special thanks to CRC for being an unparalleled support.

Every student joins an institute with certain expectations. Same way that student have certain responsibilities as well. But in this whole journey those responsibilities start fading and expectations start growing. There is an essence to maintain a balance between the both. This is a message for all my juniors to realize the same and start working on it."
