Unique and Flexible MBA(RM) Curriculum

The MBA (Rural Management) Programme is designed to balance academics with both classroom and experiential learning. The two important components of the programme include Class Room Segments (CRSs) spread over 64 credits and, three Field Work Segments (FWSs) of 28 credits across four semesters over two years. The students spend almost 28 weeks in the three field segments which are designed to achieve progressive experiential learning. The Action Research Segment (ARS) in the first semester is followed by Case Study Research Segment (CSS) in the second semester, and Management Traineeship Segment (MTS) in the third semester.

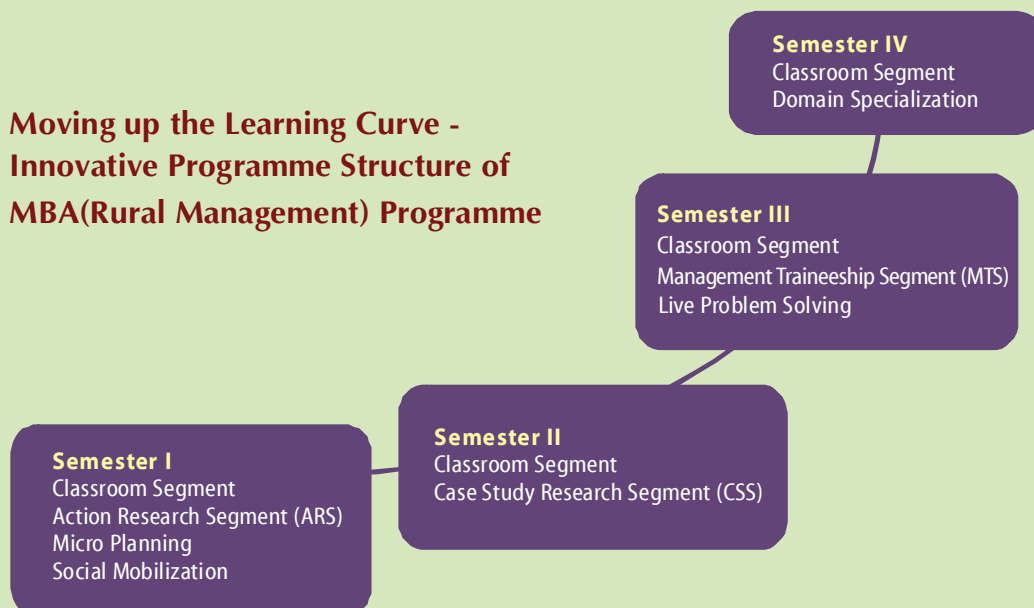

Discussions on International Internship

KSRM has made Experiential Learning as one of the core focuses of our curriculum. It allows students to learn from live situations which are real and at the same time more complex than what can be created in classroom. Resultantly, students could spend nearly $\frac{1}{3}$ rd of course time in the field with our partner organisations spread all over the country and abroad. The Experiential Learning is given further depth by assigning different learning objectives to the three field segments. In case of these three Field Segments, the students have the flexibility to choose among the various projects being offered by our partner organizations.

The courses offered in classroom segment in combination with learning from experiential segments allow students to carve out possible specializations into areas like agribusiness, banking, microfinance, marketing, natural resource management, climate change, sustainable development and others. This has been made possible by having an appropriate mix of compulsory and optional courses in the classroom segments. The optional courses provide the students a wider choice to specialize in their chosen areas of interest. The KSRM faculty effectively uses variety of pedagogical tools to actively engage students in classroom proceedings.

The course curriculum of MBA (RM) is broad based compared to mainstream MBA. We address this challenge by enrolling a large panel of practitioners who bring their unique and relevant experiences to the classroom.
